COMMON PEOPLE COMING TO OWN IN STATE OF CALIFORNIA NOWSouthern Pacific and Fire Un- derwriters Among Others Are Finding It Out

By ERNEST N. SMITH

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)

"The people's rights," is a great slogan these days. "Let the people rule" is no idle boast of the prattling politicians. The people are ruling—at least they are in California, in a way that is giving the "Jim Jams" to the active officials who must provide dividends for hungry stock holders.It's getting so a corporation president is beginning to cuddle close to the common people in a frantic effort to get in touch and keep an ear on the ground to listen for the grumble of public discontent.And every once in a while a common citizen arises in anger and shouts "See here, what this gouging, grasping corporation is doing to us.
Looky, looky, the thieves reaping a golden harvest," and there comes a faint answering cry from the corporation president "Hell-up, hell-up," attorney's rush forward frantically and the fight is on.It used to cost more to telephone to Oakland from the San Francisco ferry building than it did to personally travel to Oakland. Someone finally yelled, facts were presented to the Railroad Commission, which demanded private records, statistics, etc., and promptly lowered the tariff. The telephone company yelled unmercifully, but the rates stayed down.However, business began to increase very fast, and the telephone company is in a fair way to find itself better off than in the past.For years the Southern Pacific discriminated against the Peninsula below San Francisco. Polite requests met with a chilled response or no attention at all."Let the people rule," shouted somebody. The clans got together, money was raised, and the merry war of baiting the railroad corporation was on. Be it known that the railroad hates the commission beyond almost anything else in existence inasmuch as the commission has turned the spot light on every evil railroad practice and inconsistency.Coming to Terms.
The railroad now offered to compromise, which is much better than having a legal decision lodged against you which can be quoted by other communities. The fight was bitter. The S. P. sought to inject other issues, tried to get rival communities fighting, made glowing future promises—but the common people hung tenaciously to one point—"we want lower rates"—and they got them. The railroad defense crumbled and the people will save.The net result will be that the country will develop and the railroad will be better off than ever.Gauged by Underwriters.
The San Francisco Board of Underwriters have been gouging the city ever since the fire on insurance rates.
Somebody woke up, called Mayor Rolph's attention to things, and he being a practical business man let action follow thought. The fire insurance companies parleyed andfenced, and the discussion went along quietly, until some evil spirit prompted the insurance companies to air their side in a newspaper advertisement.The effect was electrical. Anybody who didn't know about the fight before got into it at once. The mayor threw the whole matter into public discussion and before the insurance people quite knew where they were at the "common people's" representatives proved that San Francisco was one of the richest insurance fields in the world, and that premiums paid since 1906 were $30,000, 000 and that the losses were only $5, 000,000.The insurance companies couldn't stand the pressure of public opinion.
A joint committee got to work, and the immediate result was the announcement that insurance charges would be dropped 25 to 50 per cent and that the rates of 1905 would be restored, and over $400,000 would be paid back to policy holders in returned premiums. The net saving to the city is $1,000,000 a year, and considering this as interest at 5 per cent just $20,000,000 has been added to the business capital of the city.These are just examples of how the people rule. Verily the gouging corporation is being chased to its counting room. What with reductions in railroad fares, light, gas and telephone rates, freight rates, etc., and all these things have come about in various localities, the "common people" seem to be getting what's coming to them. I say "seem" because maybe we're like the "common citizen" who said: "Gee I wish I had John D's money," whereupon a pessimistic friend remarked, "what good would it do you, he'd get it all back again."HILO TEACHERS' UNION
